QUIET IN PHILADELPHIA

Authorities State That But Forty Thousand of the Men Called Out Have Responded to the Strike Order.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Philadelphia, Pa., March 7.—All was quiet this morning and few strikers were on the streets. The strike committee places the number idle men at more than 100,000, while the authorities believe the total is less than 40,000.

Ready to Move. Washington, D. C., March 7.—Under the instructions of the war department and at the request of the secretary of the treasury, the company of coast artillery at Fort DuPont, is under arms and ready to move to Philadelphia at a moment's notice to protect the government property in the event of any serious rioting there.

May Be General. Chicago, Ill., March 7.—President Comptroller, who is here, today refused to deny or affirm the report he intends to call out the street car men in Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Omaha and San Francisco. The Philadelphia company is interested in the street car lines in all these cities.

Sunday Quiet. Philadelphia, Pa., March 7.—Philadelphia experienced a quiet Sunday with little or no rioting. The fact the saloons were all closed and but few people on the streets at any time had much to do with the quietness. The city officials, however, are prepared for any outbreak.

Men on Duty

The policemen have been kept on duty almost constantly since the trouble first began three weeks ago. They have been held in readiness for a riot duty and assisted by the state constabulary have thus been able to preserve order in the congested districts where the rioting has been the most frequent.

Not All Out

Among the large employers of labor not affected by the strike are the Baldwin locomotive works, 11,000 men; Midvale steel works, 6,000; J. C. Hill car company, 2,800; J. B. Stetson hat manufacturing company, 4,000; Dabson's saw works, 3,500; Atlantic Refining company, 3,000; Dabson's carpet mills, 1,200. Other large employers of labor unaffected are the Bell telephone company, Philadelphia Electric company, Crump's shingle, Wilbur Chocolate company, Towell Bros. & Co., and the Sanquell silk manufacturing company.

Among the concerns whose men walked out are Hurdwick & Macco textile mills, 1,000 men; American Lumber company, 600; John Hood & Co., hosiery, 350; Dorman Bros., textile, 500. It was stated by a city official that the strike is adding $30,000 a day to the expense of running the city. A representative of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company said that up to yesterday, the beginning of the third week of the strike, the total cost to the company had been between $750,000 and $800,000. Asked how long the company could stand the expense, he said:

"That is less than $1,000,000. The company is ready and willing to spend several millions, if necessary, to win out in this fight. It is a huge price to pay, but we have to pay it to retain the privilege of running the company and managing the property for the stockholders and the public."

Calls It Industrial Fight

Regarding the letters and telegrams commending his stand received from employers of labor in all parts of the country, made public by the Rapid Transit company, W. D. Mahon, international president of the carmen's union, made the following statement:

"The Philadelphia Rapid Transit company is making public through President Kruger telegrams from associations of manufacturers and employers all over the country approving the stand of the company against arbitration and offering assistance in its fight against organized labor, discloses the real issue in this contest. The presentation of these telegrams was no surprise to me. I am somewhat surprised, however, that the allied interests are so willing to publicly show their hand."

"The Rapid Transit company, with its allied interests, has declared a sympathetic strike of capital against labor. That is what these telegrams mean. The carmen's union did not go on strike. Its members were locked out as the result of a well-laid plan to crush labor in this city."

"It is an industrial fight now. The workman finds capital and corporate interests arrayed against him, and the first battle ground is a great struggle has been pitched in this city, where the interests think they are strongest and their opponents weakest."

"The answer to the Rapid Transit company's telegrams will come from organized labor of the country."

Timothy Hooley, national organizer of the Stationary Firemen's union, has apparently failed in his promise of support to the street car strikers. He proclaimed last week that at a moment's notice he could entirely cripple the transit company by calling out every employee of the powerhouses. Thus far he has made no show of carrying out his promise.

Strike of World Interest

Not only is the situation in Philadelphia unique in the labor movement, but it is viewed by the entire country, and indeed, by the civilized world, as the great test of the strength of trades unions.

Representatives of at least two London papers have been in the city during the week studying the situation and keeping their papers informed of the trend of events. Several magazine writers are also in the field obtaining material for special articles dealing with the troubles.

Neither capital nor labor has any hesitancy in admitting that the defeat of either side will be a body blow to the interests represented. No better evidence of the sentiment on both sides could be had than is given in the sheafs of letters and telegrams received at both labor and Rapid Transit headquarters.

EX-SENATOR PLATT CALLED BY DEATH

Noted New Yorker Dies of Bright's Disease Surrounded by His Immediate Family.

New York, Mar. 7.—Thomas Collier Platt, for a quarter of a century the most powerful factor in New York politics and the founder of the modern political machine, died in his seventy-seventh year. His long life ended as a slender cord might snap in twain, his death coming suddenly but peacefully.

By reason of their regular Sunday visits to their father rather than from a belief that the end was near, his three sons, Frank, Edward and Harry, and Mrs. Frank Platt, were at his bedside in the apartments of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Abels, with whom the senator has made his home for the past five years. Dr. Paul Outerbridge, the family physician, and Mr. and Mrs. Abels also were present.

Senator Platt, whose wonderful mentality has triumphed for almost a score of years over physical infirmities, was in one of his brightest and most jovial moods. He had rallied from a sinking spell which sent him to bed early in the afternoon and was chatting on topics of the news when the doctor arrived and he playfully joked the physician about the coming time when his services would not be needed.

Propped up in bed he took part in the small talk of those present for 15 minutes after the arrival of the physician. Then a tremor passed through his frail frame and by the time Dr. Outerbridge reached the side of his patient Senator Platt was dead.

For four years Senator Platt had been a chronic sufferer from Bright's disease and occasionally experienced sinking spells.

At the home of Frank Platt it was announced that the funeral will be held at Oyster, in Tioja county, next Wednesday morning.

PLAN A WAR ON NEW RETAIL DRUG TRUST

Stockholders Of American Druggists' Syndicate Are Considering Ways And Means.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New York, March 7.—The stockholders of the American Druggists' Syndicate met here today to consider ways and means of fighting the new retail drug trust, which is trying to obtain control of the retail drug trade in the large cities of the East and of New England by establishing "chains" of drugstores selling drugs and other articles usually found in drug stores at cut prices. The new trust, which is said to be headed by officers of the United Cigar Company and backed by Standard Oil capital, is also branching out in large western cities and the independent retailers in Chicago and other western cities are about to organize with a view of joining the co-operative American Druggists' Syndicate in its fight against the trust. The American Druggists' syndicate is controlled by the retailers belonging to it themselves and manufactures special brand of goods for its members. One of the principal objects of today's meeting is the consideration of the proposition to increase the capital stock of the syndicate sufficiently to enable it to buy a controlling interest in the retail drug stores of the large cities throughout the country. The syndicate proposes to have its own wholesale agency in every city where it has members.

TRY TO SET ASIDE BOYCOTT VERDICT

United Hatters Begin Fight On $222,000 Judgment Secured By D. E. Loewe of Danbury.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Hartford, Conn., March 7.—In the United States circuit court today arguments were heard on a motion of the United Hatters of North America to set aside the verdict of $222,000 recently obtained against the organization in the suit of D. E. Loewe of Danbury. It is understood that leading labor organizations of America have contributed to a fund to aid the United Hatters in fighting the verdict and to carry the case to the Supreme Court of the United States if necessary. If the verdict is upheld by the highest tribunal it will be one of the hardest blows ever dealt to organized labor in this country as it will prevent them in future from resorting to the boycott as a means of fighting the so-called "unfair" merchants and manufacturers.

The suit against the United Hatters has been one of the longest ever tried in a district court. It grew out of the boycotting of the D. E. Loewe company in 1902 by labor organizations, especially the United Hatters of North America, whose officers and members, originally to the number of about 2500, were made parties defendant. It began six years ago, ever since that time helping to keep up the possibility of various motions and in deciding whether jurisdiction should be by the state or federal courts. Last fall the case was ready to be tried out on its merits, and the trial began on Oct. 12, and as it progressed, it became evident that the struggle was virtually one between the labor organizations and the Anti-Boycott association, with able counsel on both sides. In his charge to the jury Judge James P. Platt said that there was no doubt as to the existence of a boycott, and after this point was settled, there was left the question as to the amount of damages to be awarded. On Feb. 5 last the jury, after being out two hours, ordered actual damages of $73,000 to the plaintiff, but on the same day brought under the Sherman anti-trust law triple damages can be recovered.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, D. C., March 7.—The Washington Annual association of Wilberforce University has completed arrangements for the big celebration in the interest of the university, to be held in the Metropolitan A. M. THRESHERMEN WANT MORE COMPENSATION Called For An Advance In Rates At Convention Which Opened Today At Wichita, Kas.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Wichita, Kas., March 7.—One of the most important subjects to be considered by the annual convention of the Operating Threshers which opened here today for a four days' session, will be the question of rates. On account of the existing high price of grain and labor, the threshermen contend that they do not receive enough pay for their work and the use of their machinery. An effort will be made at the convention to reach an agreement to advance the price of threshing in the coming season. It is understood that the manufacturers, who in former years have always been willing to support it. Several thousand threshers from Missouri, Kansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado and Nebraska are in attendance.

EXCESSIVE RATES ON COKE CHARGED

Steel and Iron Companies of Jackson Present Charges Before Special Examiner Cerry.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Cincinnati, O., Mar. 7.—Special Examiner Charles of the Interstate Commerce commission began a hearing here today in the case of the Jackson Iron and Steel Company, the Star Furnace Company and the Globe Iron Company, all of Jackson, and the Wellston Steel and Iron Company of Wellston, against the Norfolk & Western and other railroads. The complaint is that the rate on coke from the Pechonibus district to Wellston and Jackson is excessive, operating in favor of iron and Columbus, to the undue disadvantage of the pig iron manufacturers of Jackson and Wellston. The demand of a reasonable maximum rate, with the determination on damages for the discrimination already inflicted.

SEEK TO PRY OFF "LID" IN SEATTLE

Republicans Hope to Elect Miram Gill Mayor on an "Open Town" Platform.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Seattle, Wash., March 7.—One of the fiercest municipal campaigns in the history of Seattle came to an end today. Tomorrow the voters will choose a mayor, controller, treasurer, corporation counsel and members of the city council. The Republicans today confidently predict the success of their ticket, which is headed by Miram C. Gill as candidate for mayor. The Democratic ticket is headed by former Mayor William Hickman Moore. The United Labor party has a third ticket in the field, with Charles H. Miller, a barber, as their mayoralty candidate.

The question as to whether Seattle shall be a "wide open" town or shall continue to keep the "lid" closed is regarded as the chief issue of the mayoralty contest. In the primary campaign which led to his nomination on the Republican ticket Gill went before the people with the flat declaration for an open town, asserting that certain restrictions which have been enforced would be immediately removed if he was elected mayor.

William Hickman Moore, the Democratic candidate for mayor, entered the race on a conservative platform. Judge Moore served on the superior bench for many years and was a member of the state senate for two terms. His popularity elected him mayor of Seattle, but his course in office displeased the politicians and as a result he was defeated at the end of his first term.

CHAMP CLARK NOW SIXTY YEARS OLD

Leader of Minority in House of Representatives Received Congratulations Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, D. C., Mar. 7.—Champ Clark, the leader of the minority in the House of Representatives, received the congratulations of his colleagues on both sides of the aisle today upon the occasion of his sixtieth birthday. Mr. Clark is enjoying excellent health and his appearance does not betray his age.

Mr. Clark was born near Lawrenceburg, Anderson county, Kentucky, March 7, 1850, the son of John Hampton and Aletha Anne Clark. He received his early education in the common schools of his home town and continued his studies at the University at Lexington. Then he went to Bethany College, Pennsylvania, from which he graduated as A. B. in 1873. Later he received the degrees of A. M. and L. L. B. from that college. After graduating he studied law at the Cincinnati Law School and graduated from that institution with the degree of LL. B. in 1875 and 1874 he was president of the first normal school established in West Virginia. He did not enter active practice after his graduation from the Cincinnati Law School, but removed to Missouri and became principal of the high school at Louisiana. In 1876 he began to practice law and was attorney of Louisiana, Mo., and afterwards of Bowling Green, Mo. For a while he served as prosecuting attorney of Pike County. In 1878 and 1880 he was editor of the Riverside Press and member of the Missouri Legislature. He was elected to the Fifty-fifth Congress in 1896, and has since been biennially re-elected from the Ninth Missouri District, which he now represents.

BUILDING ASSOCIATION SECRETARY FACES TRIAL

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, D. C., Mar. 7.—The case of T. Burton Miller, former secretary of the defunct First Co-operative Building association of Georgetown was called for trial in the second division of the Criminal Court today. Miller is charged with destroying the books and records of the association and also with the embezzlement of the association's funds. The case is attracting considerable interest in Washington and the progress of the trial will be watched with more than usual attention. The defendant has engaged eminent counsel and will, it is expected, make a strong fight.

REVOLUTIONISTS ON TRIAL TOMORROW

Hearings in Russia Will be Public in Deference to Wishes Of England and United States.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] St. Petersburg, Mar. 7.—Unusual interest is manifested, throughout Russia as well as in England and the United States, in the trial of Nicholas Vassilievich Tschelichewsky and Konstantin Konstantinovich Brodskiy-Tschekowsky, which is to open here tomorrow. The preparations are practically completed and the requests from England and America the trial will be public. As the court room is small, admission tickets have been issued to a limited number.

Both defendants are charged with being members of revolutionary organizations and with having taken part in seditious agitation against the government and with having conspired against the life of certain government officials. The government bases its charges upon evidence the greater part of which was supplied by renegade revolutionists who were acting as spies for the Russian police while they pretended to be in thorough sympathy with the aims and objects of the revolutionists. Tschelichewsky, who will be represented by M. Muklakoff, one of the most eloquent lawyers in Russia, is said to be prepared to prove an alibi in one of the most serious cases of his indictment. Mrs. Tschelichewsky, who for many years has been a prominent member of the Social Revolutionary party, in which circle she is known by the friendly title of "Grandmother," was arrested at Simbirsk on October 8, 1907 and has spent the years since then in the dismal dungeons of the St. Peter and Paul fortress. Prince Eristoff, a lawyer of great ability, will defend her, but it is generally believed that his task will be extremely difficult, as there is said to be strong evidence against his client.

MAJORITY REPORT IS GIVEN TODAY

ADMINISTRATION BILL PRESENTED TO THE SENATE THIS AFTERNOON.

RAILWAY MEASURE IS IN

This Will Make Third Report On Proposed Law to be Considered By Congress.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, March 7.—"Carefully preserving the principles so clearly enunciated in the republican platform of 1908," is the way the majority of the senate committee on interstate commerce, which made its report today on the administration railroad bill, interprets the provision to permit common carriers to enter into traffic agreements.

The report is signed by Senators Elkins, Cullom, Aldrich, Keam, Crane and Nixon, and will be printed with the minority report submitted a few days ago by Senators Clapp and Cummins, and the individual report of Senator Newlands.

Approval of the committee of commerce features a new compromise, although comment upon other provisions is far more interesting. For instance, the report says that the effect of the traffic agreement provision is to relieve carriers from the prohibition of the anti-trust act, while preserving unimpaired the control of the interstate commerce commission over all such agreements. It is declared that the provision is in exact compliance with the declaration in the republican platform.

After quoting the clause of the platform concerning such agreements the report says: "The contention that this declaration can only be complied with by requiring the approval of such agreements by the interstate commerce commission before they become operative is in the opinion of the committee, destitute of the slightest foundation."

"The section in question carefully preserves the principles clearly enunciated in the platform, and only by a wilful distortion of language could it be contended that this carefully worded provision involved any abandonment of the principle of competition between naturally competing lines."

Endorsing the proposed court of commerce, the report says that the principle argument in favor of its creation is that it will prevent delay and confusion in the enforcement of the law by creating one tribunal specially versed in the complicated and often technical questions arising out of the application of the interstate commerce law to railroads and other carriers subject to the act.

Supreme court rulings are cited in support of the contention that the scope of review of the commissions orders in the court will not be wider than it is now in the circuit courts. It is contended that courts ought not to be ordered with merely administrative powers such as are involved in the exercise of the commissions discretion. The claim that there will not be enough business to keep the tribunal occupied is not seriously considered by the commission.

The administration bill gives the attorney general entire charge and control of the interests of the government in all cases and proceedings in the court of commerce and in the supreme court on appealed cases. This is a change from the existing law. The commission says that the present system combines in the membership of the interstate commerce commission the functions of investigator, judge, and prosecutor, which is declared to be contrary to the correct theory of law or procedure.

Commenting upon the provision for investigation by the commission of proposed increases in rates, the report says that a majority of the committee is of opinion that the commission should be authorized to commence the investigation of a proposed increase in rate, or change in classification as soon as it is filed. The majority supports also the proposition that at any time before the rate or classification will become effective the commission should be empowered to postpone the effective date for a reasonable period to enable it to investigate the proposed action.

The bill fixes the reasonable period at sixty days and although the commission recommended that this time be extended to 120 days the committee is of opinion that with due diligence the commission can determine within the time allotted whether the increase should be approved.

As to the provisions relating to through rates and through routes, the shippers right to route shipments and making of annual reports, the majority follows the line of argument advanced by Attorney general Wickersham in his published abstract of the bill.

Concerning the important sections relating to the purchase of competing lines, the report says: "Some criticism of this section has been made upon the ground that it did not prohibit the acquisition by means of a holding corporation of stocks of competing lines of railway. The provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law, so completely cover that ground that the committee deemed it unnecessary to attempt a repetition of those prohibitions in this act. For the same reason it was not deemed expedient to attempt to deal with the question of combinations of express companies or telegraph and telephone companies, where such combinations constitute a restraint of trade, the Sherman act affords ample authority to reach and prevent them."

Attention is called to the fact that the bill provides a means of ascertaining by judicial investigation and determination whether or not a bona fide contract proposed to be entered into respecting the acquisition of stock or property of railroads is in violation of the prohibitions of the Sherman act before large investments of capital are made in reliance upon a seeming, although possibly wholly illusory, legal provision. This provision is held to be of

MAN WHO WON $10,000 BY SAVING $400.—ELMER VAN VLEET.

St. Louis, Mo.—Elmer Van Vleet, until last week a daily hand of Maplewood, who won a wager of $10,000 by saving $400 in two years while working as a laborer at laborer's wages, will depart in a few days for his home in New York. He is waiting to hear from A. V. Mekeel, proprietor of a newspaper, with whom he made the wager.
Van Vleet is glad the time is up, but thinks it was not ill spent, as he not only enjoys the best of health, but has proved his statement that the young man of today has the same chances to save money as the young man of a generation ago, despite living expenses have increased materially. His two years, he said, have been hard ones. He started out with nothing but a pocket knife and his clothes. He was to accept the treatment of the world as it comes to other laborers, and was to stick to his position through sickness and ill luck.
"During all my two years," says Mr. Van Vleet, "I received white treatment from only two employers, and they were St. Louis men." He expects to go back to his newspaper work and will publish the story of his experience as soon as he is settled.

WOULD BE HUMORISTS GOT A GOOD DOSE OF THE HICKORY

Four Young Men Who Annoyed Women on Milwaukee St. Yesterday Ran Afoul of the Police.
Four young men, ranging in age from seventeen to twenty, who amused themselves yesterday afternoon by standing in a hallway on W. Milwaukee St., and making alleged funny remarks to all women who passed, received a sample of what all that would-be facetious class will receive if caught. Chief Appleby, received word of their actions and catching them unaware, applied a liberal dose of hickory oil to their backs and shoulders. One of them showed fight and was given a chance to meditate in the lock-up over night.

Other Cream Separators Merely Discarded or Abandoned De Laval Inventions

It is interesting and instructive to know that nearly, if not quite, every cream separator that has ever been made, and certainly all that are being made at this time, are merely copies or imitations of some type of construction originally invented or developed by the De Laval Company, and either not used by it because of something more practical or else discarded and abandoned in the course of De Laval progress and utilization of later improvements.
An earlier patents have expired some of their features have one after another been taken up by different imitators, so that at all times, as is the case today, every separator made in the United States or elsewhere in the world, utilizes some type of construction originally owned and developed by the De Laval Company, though some of them have never been commercially used by the De Laval Company because of their inferiority to other types of construction used by it.
The De Laval Company has always been forging ahead, with its many years of experience and the best of experts and mechanics the whole world affords in its employ, so that before any expiring patent might permit the use of any feature of construction by imitators the De Laval Company had already gone so much beyond that type of construction that it was then old and out-of-date in the modern De Laval machines.
All cream separator inventions by others have been of immaterial details or variations, upon which patents have been taken, if at all, more for the sake of the name than by reason of any real value or usefulness attaching to them.
The first practical continuous flow centrifugal Cream Separator was the invention of Dr. Gustaf de Laval in 1878, the American patent application being filed July 31, 1879, and issuing as Letters Patent No. 247,804 October 4, 1881.
This was the original Cream Separator—of the "Hollow" or empty bowl type—and it has been followed from year to year by the various steps of cream separator improvement and development, all De Laval made or owned inventions, the American patent applications being filed and letters patent issued as follows:
The original Hand Cream Separator of the "Hollow" type: application filed October 2, 1886, issuing as Letters Patent No. 356,990 February 1, 1887.
The original Hand Cream Separator of the "Spur" type: application filed January 17, 1887, issuing as Letters Patent No. 368,328 August 16, 1887.
The original Steam Turbine-driven Cream Separator: application filed December 8, 1886, issuing as Letters Patent No. 379,690 March 20, 1888.
The original "Tubular" shaped "Hollow" bowl Cream Separator: application filed April 19, 1886, issuing as Letters Patent No. 372,788 November 8, 1887.
The original "Disc" bowl Cream Separator: application filed May 12, 1890, issuing as Letters Patent No. 432,719 July 22, 1890.
The original vertical curved or interlocking "Blade" Cream Separator bowl, covered likewise by the application filed May 12, 1890, issuing as Letters Patent No. 432,719 July 22, 1890.
The original "Bottom Feed" Cream Separator bowl: application filed July 24, 1889, issuing as Letters Patent No. 415,968 January 20, 1891.
The original "Suspended" bowl Cream Separator: application filed August 21, 1893, issuing as Letters Patent No. 512,293 January 2, 1894.
The original "Star" or "Pineapple Core" shaped series of cylindrical Cream Separator bowl: application filed August 24, 1893, issuing as Letters Patent No. 527,722 June 19, 1894.
The original "Curved Disc" Cream Separator bowl: application filed January 18, 1905, issuing as Letters Patent No. 892,399 July 14, 1908.
The original "Spill-Over" Tubular Shaft Cream Separator bowl: application filed April 29, 1898, issuing as Letters Patent No. 610,368 January 2, 1900—which invention, with a series of later improvements, is the type of bowl construction used in the De Laval machines of today, and still covered by protecting patents which prevent its appropriation by would-be competitors.
The patents thus enumerated are but a few of the more important of the more than 500 original Cream Separator patents owned, controlled and developed by the De Laval Company during its thirty years of creation and development of the Cream Separator industry throughout the world. They are recited because they show in the most illustrative and conclusive manner possible, De Laval's originality and leadership from 1878 to the present day.
In addition to these patent-protected features, the De Laval machines have within two years been mechanically redesigned and reconstructed in every part, from top to bottom, so that the new and improved line of De Laval machines are today, even more than at any past period, fully ten years in advance of any other cream separator made.
Those are the Rock-of-Gibraltar-like separator facts against which the mere "word claims" of would-be competitors fade away like the mists of night before the rays of the morning sun.

PASSPOSTAL BILL; VOTE, 50 TO 22

SENATE ADOPTS PRESIDENT TAFT'S MEASURE BY VOTE OF 50 TO 22.

PARTY LINES ARE DRAWN

Senator Chamberlain, Democrat, Votes with Republicans—Two Per Cent. Bonds Are Barred, Borah and Smoot Amendments Are Passed.

Washington, Mar. 7. — President Taft's postal savings bank bill was passed by the senate by a vote of 50 to 22. Every Republican and one Democrat (Chamberlain) voted for its adoption.

The "insurgent" Republicans, whose opposition to the Smoot amendment threatened defeat of the bill, were swung into line by an amendment offered by Senator Borah of Idaho, which provides that no funds can be invested in government bonds paying less than 2½ per cent. interest.

Two Per Cent. Bonds Barred.

The amendment was adopted by a vote of 49 to 11, and it satisfied the western senators, who were determined that the bill should not permit the use of funds deposited in the savings bank for the purchase of the $700,000,000 worth of two per cent. government bonds now outstanding.

The postal savings bank bill, which now goes to the house for consideration, provides for the establishment of a system of post office savings banks similar to the systems in vogue in many foreign countries. Its primary purpose is to provide a banking system under government protection which will inspire confidence in Americans, and especially in immigrants, and bring into circulation the savings they are hoarding because of distrust of the established banks. It is expected that between $500,000,000 and $1,000,000,000 will be restored to circulation through the new bank.

AN OLD REMEDY

Beef, Iron and Wine is one of the good old remedies that has outlived a score of patent tonics, reasonable in price, a satisfactory tonic, appetizer and mild stimulant. There is nothing better for that tired, worried, listless feeling or run-down condition of the system after illness of any kind. It tones the whole system, stimulates digestion, gives you appetite, is a good tonic for weak, pale children or old people, far more effective than malt extracts or so-called wine of cod liver oil that depend upon their stimulants alone. Beef, Iron and Wine tones and sustains, it assists nature to recuperate, it's a food to the sick and nursing mothers.

Mr. Poulton, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, prepares our Beef, Iron and Wine. It's always fresh, made from the very best extract of beef, wholesome, properly aged sherry wine and soluble iron.

We don't sell ready-made, hand-made, factory-manufactured Beef, Iron and Wine. We believe and know that medicine should be compounded only by the experienced and scientifically trained.

Try a bottle of our Beef, Iron and Wine as made by Mr. Poulton, 75c a full pint. Note its wholesome taste and invigorating effect. You will be more than satisfied. Get it at the Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and River Sts. The drug store that makes a specialty of drugs.

Two ladies in my office the other day were talking and comparing notes.

One said, "I shook like a leaf when I sat down in the Dental chair, but after Dr. Richards had extracted one tooth and I found that it really did not hurt, I said go ahead and take the others out. I could have sat there till tomorrow."

"That's so," said the second lady, "I felt the same way, but to my surprise the pain was simply nothing."

These expressions are full of suggestion, in view of the fact that these same people tell me that their former Dental experiences are simply a nightmare when they think of them.

I feel that I am well within the truth when I tell you that my present method simply annihilates the pain of extracting teeth.

SIGNED THE FINAL PAPERS SATURDAY

Articles of Agreement Entered Into Which Assure New Auto Factory For the City.

After two months of hard work on the part of those interested, the project of bringing the Monitor Automobile Works of Chicago was brought to a successful culmination Saturday when final papers were signed in the Chicago offices. This assures a new and thriving industry for Janesville, one that, according to the promoters, has a brilliant future.

Collection of subscriptions was started this morning and as soon as the first payment is made, the company will begin moving their machinery to this city. It is hoped that the company will be in a position to manufacture their machines early in spring. The first floor and basement of the Green Warehouse has been cleared and is now ready for the installation of the machinery.

As the new building already has a complete power plant, no delay will be experienced on that score. The building will make the new factory an ideal location giving them plenty of floor space and excellent shipping facilities. All arrangements have been completed for the moving which will doubtless start in a few days.

The company is very anxious to settle and wish the orders for spring delivery now on hand. The machine made is in great demand in the cities and promises to be an important feature in the business world. The company will employ about seventy-five men to start with and will increase their force as fast as possible.

ASSAULT CASE IS POSTPONED AGAIN

Was Cabled This Morning but by Consent of Attorneys Was Adjourned to March 11.

When the case against Claude Montano was called in municipal court this morning it was found that neither side was ready to proceed and by consent of District Attorney Fisher and Attorney Reader it was adjourned until Friday, March 11, at ten o'clock, when information will be filed. It is probable the case will be drawn Saturday and the case tried on the succeeding Monday. Until then the prisoner will stay in jail in default of the original bonds.

MARY J. LYKE.

Dear Mother rest from all your care. Sleep now your loving work is done. No more that look of trouble when, but wear the crown that thou has won.

Now let thy heart that ever beat Responsive to thy children call, Be filled with heavenly pulses sweet, That from the angel chorus fall.

And let thy hands that knew no rest From sun to sun through many years Lie still upon thy peaceful breast.

And weary feet that walked so long The rugged way that mother trod, Go, walk those paths no more, Where troublesome souls are comforted.

O Mother, angel in disguise, Thy garment thou hast laid aside, And opened the gate of Paradise, Through love and labor glorified.

Pleasant Evening Entertainment.

First social event of the Loyal Order of Moose that is to be given in Assembly hall on Tuesday evening promises to be the event of the season. Nothing has been spared to make this a pleasant evening for all who attend.

The Moose is an order for the purpose of a brotherhood, founded upon the splendid principles of purity and progress to bind civilized mankind together and to teach great truths which have for their purpose the elevation of society. Religious and political rights are fully recognized by the teachings of the order, but questions and references of a political and sectarian nature find no place within the sacred precincts and are forbidden within its portals.

The ladies have an opportunity of enjoying the evening with the order and by so doing will become acquainted with the character and principles which the order advances.

The proceeds of the evening are for the purpose of defraying the expense of furnishing a permanent home for the lodge.

The hall has been tastefully decorated and the menu is of the very best selection. A pleasing program has been arranged and every moment of the evening will be entertaining to all who attend. Do not miss this opportunity of acquainting yourselves with the standard principles of this order.

POLICE ARRESTED INCORRIGIBLE BOY

Helmer Scrivens Had Been Absent from Home Since Last Monday—Confessed to Stealing Pans.

Helmer Scrivens, an incorrigible youth about thirteen years old, who was away from his home last Monday, was taken in charge by the police last night and an effort will be made to send him to the reform school. For the past week the lad has been sleeping in barns and outbuildings, on farms south of town and received food from kindly-dispositioned farmers. He was ragged, badly in need of soap and water, but from the way he scratched and squirmed did not lack for companionship.

The boy admitted that he was the one who had amused himself by throwing stones through the windows of St. Paul passenger trains recently, but did not know whether or not he had hit anyone. "If they didn't dodge they got hit," he said indifferently. His mother has been notified and if her consent can be secured the boy will be sent to the reform school.

BELOIT PASTOR TO TEACH AT COLLEGE

Rev. Chauncey Edwards Resigns Pastorate of Presbyterian Church For Professorship.

[Janesville, Wis., March 7.—] Dr. Chauncey Edwards, for three years pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Sunday tendered his resignation and will have a place in the faculty of Beloit College. Dr. Edwards came here from the east to succeed Rev. T. T. Creswell who went to the Pacific Coast and he had a strong part in completing the beautiful new edifice of the church. He has contemplated going into educational work for some time. A year ago he was tendered the place of financial secretary of the Carroll college at Wausau but he decided that it was not then the time to give up his church.

Dr. H. O. Delaney gave a talk before the Y. M. C. A. Sunday on the cause and treatment of tuberculosis. Dr. Delaney considers that his life was saved by the fresh air treatment and urges it for sufferers from tuberculosis.

The remains of John Maxson, the civil war veteran who died last Thursday were taken to Albion, Wis., today for burial.

A photo glass in the drug store of C. H. Jones in the Goodwin Block blew in last night. This is the second time within the year that Mr. Jones has suffered a like annoyance. The window was broken but no one looked for it to fall to pieces.

Postmaster Worthington has received the preliminary sketches of the new post office. It will be a thing of beauty and meet the needs of a growing city. The estimated expense is $75,000.

obvious advantage to the government for the reason that such an investigation would be conducted before the contract became effective.
Hearing upon the provisions affecting the issue of stock and bonds, the report takes up the legal side of the questions involved. The bill in that regard is defended and the report says of this feature of the bill:
"Those provisions are so framed as not to prevent the ordinary means of financing railroad companies, while interposing an effectual protection against the issue of stock or bonds without adequate consideration.

"While it may be objected that the provisions of this act do not go far enough in regulating the capitalization of railroad corporations, no candid critic can fail to admit that they constitute a long step in the direction of establishing such national legislation and supervision as will prevent the future overissue of stocks and bonds by interstate carriers and that they go as prudent legislation should go in entering upon this new field of national constraint upon the issue of stock and bonds by interstate carriers."

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Mar. 7.—Two men, thrown from a rowboat that overturned in the Niagara river, are reported to have been swept over the Horseshoe falls.

Expensive Experience

Dairymen are sometimes tempted to buy the so-called "cheap" separators.
The mail order and catalogue house reap a harvest every year from that temptation.
Does it pay to buy anything simply because it's cheap? Experience teaches that IT DOES NOT.

The 1910 Interlocking Style UNITED STATES SEPARATOR

Costs a little more than the "cheap" separators. But it does the work better.

And it does it easier.

And it does it longer.

And it does it more thoroughly.

Isn't such a separator worth a little more than one that cannot be depended upon?

And remember there are thousands of U. S. Separators today in use that have run continuously from ten to eighteen years and are still doing fine work.

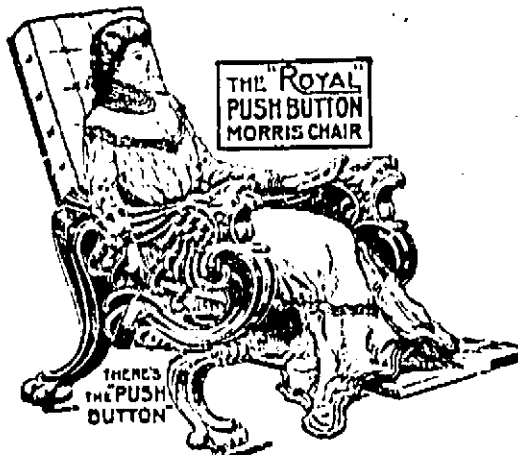

Isn't that the kind of separator to own?

EMBROIDERY HOOP

Outer Ring Released by Pressure on Spring at Side.

One of the newer inventions that help make the little things easier for women is the embroidery hoop devised by a Parisian and shown in the illustration. The merit of this hoop is that the two rings are quickly and easily separated.

WOMEN WEAR ON FABRICS.

and that without exerting any pressure on the fabric between them. The inner ring is solid, as is usual, but the outer one has a segment cut out and is joined by a strip of spiral hinged wire so as to form a spring. By pressure of the thumb on this spring the outer ring is widened and removed without any strain on the cloth between the two. When this cloth is of such a fine texture that the rubbing of it between the hoops causes tears, or at least spoils the weave. A woman who has put weeks or even months on a fine piece of embroidery will appreciate the advantage of having a pair of hoops that eliminate the danger of having her work damaged at the last moment.

ADVANCE PARIS MODEL.

Judging from early showings, indications point to a season of ribbon and flowers in the millinery world, and there is a marked absence of feathers. Our sketch, direct from Paris, illustrates a lovely leghorn faced with black velvet and trimmed on top with numerous loops of pink satin mesaline ribbon, which are arranged to form a huge rose. The effect is beautiful.

At Least Show Good Intent.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"Her voice was ever so sweet and low; an excellent thing in women."—Shakespeare.

COULD William say that of your voice—at least without using a tremendous amount of poetic license?

A low, well-modulated voice is a charm almost any woman can have, but listen some day on the street cars and see how very few do possess it.

And while you are listening, don't forget to listen to your own. Try to catch it an unconscious moment and I'm afraid you'll be surprised at its unusual quality. And don't stop at listening once. Listen often and try to modulate it.

When I speak of a low voice I don't mean the die-away kind. That's about as bad as the shrill tones. I simply mean an even, well-modulated, pleasantly-pitched voice, loud enough so that the persons to whom you are talking can hear what you say without any effort, and low enough so that the rest of the world can't.

A well-modulated voice is a charm that people seldom actively notice but almost always subtly feel. It is one of the things that goes to make up the sum total of "attractiveness."

When you are talking anywhere and a car goes by or any other noise threatens to obscure your voice, don't go into competition with it. Cease speaking until the noise ceases. That is one of the little habits that keeps the voice in good condition and incidentally one that shows the well-bred woman.

Never under any conditions raise your voice when you are angry. Obviously it is un ladylike, but furthermore, a perfectly level voice is a splendid disadvantage. Who feels as if she were being insulted and yet she can hardly ask you to "holler" back.

Commonness shows nowhere as quickly as it does in the voice. Don't you often hear in the street cars a basket of puffs, some loud cheap clothes, tawdry ideas and an entire lack of breeding, right in the tones of a voice?

And when you seize an opportunity and get a glimpse of the owner, you don't very often find you've made a mistake, do you?

A voice that hurries untidily, tumbles the syllables over each other and runs the words together, is extremely trying to listen to and doesn't inspire the confidence that a slow, well controlled voice does. Such a voice needs attention as much as the loud voice.

A drawl, when it is natural, is somehow charming, but when it is affected I think it is worse than a false front that doesn't match.

Please don't be satisfied with applying all this to your neighbor. Doubtless some of it fits her. But the point is, does it fit you? You can get along without her having a well-modulated voice but can you afford to get along without one yourself?

Unless you have more charms and more friends than you need, I don't think you can.

SLEEVE AND BODY IN ONE.

A style which is to be worn this spring is a revision of the old "sleeve and body in one" idea which was so popular several years ago. Unlike the old one, though, the body portion fits higher under the arm producing better lines and is a much more pleasing effect. This style of waist is adaptable to so many different treatments that it will be found in almost every kind of gown and especially favored for the separate blouse to be worn with the coat suit. The dainty chemise gives the usual finished touch to a waist of this kind, while as an overblouse to be worn with a gingham the sleeve portion evolves into a sleeve cap reaching nearly to the elbow.

EDUCATION OF THE FUTURE

By MARY RUSSELL.

Some day there will come a man or woman with a great idea in the matter of education. These will be such a revolution of ideas that we will consign all our present methods back to the barbaric period with their scrolls and sticks.

The ideal school of that day will teach three studies simply and well. A child who is ready to go into high school will know how to read with a proper appreciation of the meaning of the text. He will understand all the simpler rules of arithmetic, such as addition, subtraction, multiplication and simple percentages. He will understand grammar—not be able to make a fair guess at its meaning, and he will write so as to be legible. Spelling will be taught in harmony with all these studies, and in addition to these things he will have a general fund of knowledge of the simpler sciences.

He will go to school for study in the morning, and the afternoons will be spent under the intelligent supervision of the teachers in outdoor pursuits. He will know birds—not from books, but because he has studied them from nature. He will know trees and flowers, and will understand how they are cultivated. He will be able to look intelligently at the rocks and earth. All these things he will learn in the great book of nature. It will be against the law to keep a child indoors more than three hours a day. And the school of that day will not be great buildings to cover blocks of ground, but will be wide acres or parks sacred to the child.

We will not cut many fads—or teach them so incidentally that the child will not know he is learning. The laws of nature will be obeyed, and the healthy body will make a strong and healthy mind.

We have gone mad on the subject of achievements. The child will in the formation period must draw, and paint, and cook, and sing, and use tools. He must dabble in the sciences and arts in every direction. He gets a smattering of many things, and comes out at the end of the time a master of none.

In that day the individualism of the child will be studied. If a child shows a trend in a certain direction he will be given a chance in that particular line, but we will denounce as a relic of barbarism this effort to fit all children to one mold.

The child who cannot draw a line that looks like anything in the universe, will not be compelled to waste a large part of his time in making meaningless attempts. The child that detests singing, and has neither an ear for music, nor a soul for harmony will not be compelled to waste valuable moments trying to come up to an impatient teacher's standard of the divine art.

This day will come—but I fear we will all be dead!

LATE WINTER COSTUME.

Despite the fact that shops are ablaze with summer fabrics, one cannot ignore the present cold weather, and there will be many days for winter gowns before the fascinating thin materials can be worn with comfort. And now is the time for hangers in ready-to-wear gowns and warm materials. The above cut shows a charming and durable little frock in the ever-fashionable dark blue-ecru de chine, ideal for informal afternoon affairs and matinee. Stock and yoke are of cream lace and the round collar outlining the latter is of the silk braided in black cat-tail. Down the left side from shoulder to knee depth is a band of black velvet ribbon, which passes under the giraffe at the waist line. The skirt has a tulle front and plain back.

GARFIELD IS CALLED

TO BACK UP PINCHOT

No Dealings in Dark He Says While He Was Secretary of the Interior.

Washington, Mar. 7.—On the conclusion of Clifford Pinchot's testimony in the Bullinger investigation, the former secretary of the Interior, James R. Garfield, was called as a witness.

Mr. Garfield went into the detailed history of his administration of the Interior, especially with respect to the withdrawal of lands containing water power sites. He declared there had been no subterfuge, no dealing in the dark. As to the charge that the power site withdrawals were too large, Mr. Garfield said he thought a great mistake had been made in not making some of them larger.

Mr. Pinchot's story ended with a refutation of the fact that he had little or no personal knowledge of the facts in which he had called attention during the four days he was on the witness stand and with a general defense of the forest service.

J. T. HARAHAH NOT TO RESIGN.

Contrary to Rumor, Illinois Central President Will Retain Office.

New York, Mar. 7.—The fact that W. L. Park, general superintendent of the Union Pacific railway, is to be elected vice-president of the Illinois Central this week led to the telegraphing of a rumor from Chicago that J. T. Harahan was about to resign the presidency of the Illinois Central.

That Mr. Park may eventually become the head of the Illinois Central is one of the possibilities of the future. According to directors of the Illinois Central who were seen in this city he has no intention of resigning at present, even to take the office of chairman of the board of directors which, the Chicago report had it, was to be created for him.

GORE TRIES TO "HELP" INDIAN.

Asks Taft to Transfer Murderer from "Pen" to Training School.

Washington, Mar. 7.—Senator Gore of Oklahoma appealed to the president to find some way to transfer Edna Willie, a full-blooded Indian boy, from the Atlanta penitentiary to a training school or a reformatory. The Indian had 15 years old and is under a life sentence for being an accomplice in the murder of an Indian woman.

Robbers Loot Express Car.

Rochester, N. Y., Mar. 7.—When train No. 27 on the New York Central reached Rochester it was discovered that one of the ten American Express cars, a through car, had been looted. Nearly all of the 1,000 packages had been broken open and their contents scattered. Just how much the robbers got is not known.

FARMERS WILL HAVE VERY EARLY SPRING

Deep Snow During Winter Has Protected Ground From Frost.

According to Prof. A. F. Gilman of Tipton college, head of the department of chemistry and geology, this should be an unusually good spring for the farmers.

Recent experiments conducted by him show that the ground has not been frozen six inches, and that after the thin upper crust is dug through there is no more trouble in breaking the ground than there is during the late summer months.

This is unusual, and promises an early season for the farmers. With the first real signs of spring the ground will be ready for cultivation.

Despite the fact that this has been one of the "real, old-fashioned" winters that old residents delight to talk about, according to farmers, it has been one of the easiest winters on the ground, and has been one of the most fruitful in many years.

Heavy snows have prevailed since early in the winter. The first fall came before the ground had time to freeze. On top of this came another, and this has continued throughout the winter, the entire country being covered during the season.

There are a large number of orchards in Wisconsin, and this is also a heavy berry-raising state. Both of these industries were aided by the snows. Covered by the repeated storms, the berry bushes were not touched by the frosts. Neither were there any heavy cold storms, bearing down upon the trees, covering everything with ice and snow.

"Will we have an early spring?" is a question that is bothering many people these days. Old adages have been smashed right and left this year.

The groundhog theory has failed the last year, and the weather forecast

Amateur weather prophets have had their prognostications somewhat so often that even they have lost confidence in themselves.

Forecaster W. C. Devoe says predicts considerable winter during March.

Many farmers believe that the standing with which winter has provided will bring spring in well on time, and that the crops will be in the ground, owing to the summer-like conditions which prevail therein, earlier than usual. Spring plowing will probably be started in advance of last year.

The LITTLE BROWN JUG at KILDARE

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON
ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

Jerry and Ardmore, hatless and warm, were pardonably indignant at this being aroused in their night, and the master of Ardley, feeling for once the dignity of his proprietorship, broke out sternly.

"I would have you know—I would have you know," he roared, and then his voice failed him. He stared, he spluttered; he busied himself with his horse, which was dancing in eagerness to resume the race. He quieted the beast, which nevertheless arched and pawed like a warhorse, and then the master of Ardley bowed:

"Grady! I say, Grady!"

Miss Osborne and Prof. Griswold, on their drooping Mingo county non-descripts, made a tame picture before Ardmore and his late companion on their Ardley hunters. The daughter of the governor of South Carolina looked upon the daughter of the governor of North Carolina with high disdain, and it need hardly be said that this feeling, as expressed by glacial glances, was evenly reciprocal, and that in the contemptuous upward tilt of two charming chins the nearest judgment would have been necessary to any fair opinion as to which state had the better argument.

The associate professor of admiralty was known as a ready debater, and he quickly returned his former friend's salutation, and in much the same contemptuous tone he would have used in withering an adversary before a jury.

"Pardon me, but are you one of the employees here?"

"Why, Grady, old man, don't look at me like that! How did you—"

"I owe your master an apology for riding upon his property at a time when pestilence is giving you cause for so much concern. The death-rate from scarlet fever is deplorably high—"

"Oh, Grady!" cried Ardmore.

"You have addressed me familiarly by a nickname sometimes used by intimate friends, though I can't for the life of me recall you. I want you to know that I am here in an official capacity, on an errand for the state of South Carolina—"

Miss Dangerfield's chin, which had dropped a trifle, pointed again into the blue ether.

"You will pardon me," she said, "but an agent of the state of South Carolina is far exceeding his powers when he intrudes upon North Carolina soil."

"The state of South Carolina does what it pleases and goes where it likes," declared Miss Barbara Osborne warmly, whereupon Mr. Ardmore, at a glance from his coadjutor, avowed righteousness indignantly.

"It's one thing, sir, for you to ride in here as a sight-seer, but quite another for you to come representing an unfriendly state. You will please choose which view of the matter I shall take, and I shall act accordingly."

Griswold's companion spoke to him earnestly in a low tone for a moment, and then Griswold addressed Ardmore facetiously:

WOMAN ESCAPES OPERATION

Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Elwood, Ind.—"Your remedies have cured me and I have only taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was sick three months and could not walk. I suffered all the time. The doctors said I could not get well without an operation, for I could hardly stand the pains in my sides, especially my right one, and down my right leg. I began to feel better when I had taken only one bottle of Compound, but kept on as long as I could to stop too soon."—Mrs. SADDIE MULLEN, 2723 N. D. St., Elwood, Ind.

Why will women take chances with an operation or drug on a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is for sale at Smith's Pharmacy, The Rexall Store, as well as other Patent Medicines advertised in this paper.

paper in which the reports of Gov. Dangerfield's disappearance were analyzed and tersely dismissed; "for he knows how to write and he's done a splendid picture of your father on his throne attending to business; and his little stingers for Osborne are the work of a genius."

"There's a certain finish about Mr. Collins' lying that is refreshing," replied Jerry, "and I cannot help thinking that he has a brilliant future before him if he enters politics. Nothing pains me more than a careless, ill-considered, silly lie, which is the best that most people can do. But it would be very interesting to know whether Gov. Osborne has really disappeared, or just how your friend the Virginia professor has seized the reins of state. Do you suppose he got a jug from somewhere, and met Miss Osborne and—"

"Do you think—do you think—she may have—possibly—closed one eye in his direction?" asked Ardmore dubiously.

"Mr. Ardmore"—and Jerry pointed at him with a bronze paper-cutting to make sure of his attention—"Mr. Ardmore, if you ever imply again by act, word or deed that I winked at you I shall never speak to you again. I should think that a man with a nice sister like Mrs. Atchison would have a better opinion of women than you seem to have. I never saw you until you came to my father's house to tell me about the jug—and you know I didn't. And as for that Barbara Osborne, while I don't doubt that even in South Carolina a daughter of a gentleman in a moment of extreme provocation, I doubt if she did, for she lacks animation, and has no more soul than a gum overcoat."

The discussion ceased abruptly on the appearance of Hig Paul, the forester.

"A body of South Carolina militia is marching across country from the south. One of my men heard of it down at Turner Court House last night and rode to where the troops were encamped. He learned that it was a practice march for the militia. There's several companies of infantry, so he reports, and a piece of artillery."

"Bully for old Grady!" exclaimed Ardmore. "They're coming this way, are they, Paul?" And the three bent over the map.

"This is the place, sir. They seem to be planning to get around Turner's without stirring up the town. But it would take a good deal to wake up Turner's," laughed the big German.

Jerry placed her finger on the state line.

"If they dare cross that—if they as much as dare—"

"If they dare we shall show them a few things. Take all the men you need, Paul, to watch their movements. That will do."

The forester lingered.

"You remember that we spoke the other day of the log house on Re-

"Do You Suppose They Really Have Applegate?"

coon creek, where the Applegates had driven off our man?"

"Yes, Paul. It is where the state line crosses the heavy woods and the farthest outpost, so to speak, on my property. Also you said some of these Applegate fellows had been cutting off the timber down there. If I remember rightly."

"Yes, sir," replied the forester, twirling his cap awkwardly. "But some of the people on the estate have said—"

He broke off in an embarrassment so unlike him that Jerry and Ardmore looked at him curiously.

"Well, Paul, what's the matter? If the cabin has been burned down it's no serious matter."

"Why, sir; some of the men passing there at night say they see lights and hear sounds in the cabin, though no one from the estate goes there. A child died in the house last spring and—well, you know how some of these people are!"

"Cheer up, Paul. We have bigger business on hand than the chasing of ghosts just now. When we get through with these other things I'll go over there myself and take a look at the spook."

As Paul hurried away, Jerry seized a pen and wrote this message:
